Dear Brothers,

The feast of Blessed James Alberione sees us all involved in thanking the Trinity for the gift of the Pauline life, a gift which has the whole of humanity as its ultimate recipient. Looking at the life of Don Alberione, we discover the identity of the apostle always ready to “scrutinize the signs of the times” and to give life to new ways to proclaim the Gospel in the culture of communication. His testimony of holiness involves us personally, urges each of us to be enterprising, Paulines with a big and generous heart, today more than ever artisans of communion

The current apostolic challenges ask us for original paths, new ways of living as Pauline “editors”, following the example of Mary Queen of the Apostles. The qualitative leap, as Saint Paul reminds us in the Letter to the Romans (12:2), lies in a change of mentality, in small and constant qualitative transformations that arise from listening to the Word and which involve all our actions.

«The Lord poured out, with wisdom equal to love, the many riches that are in the Pauline Family... Everything is from God: everything leads us to the Magnificat» (AD 4). These words full of gratitude from Primo Maestro are the ones we renew in today’s Eucharistic celebration. Precisely around this Eucharistic table, we are one body and we become brothers who share the same mission, the one that the Divine Master has entrusted to us. May Mary Queen of the Apostles, Saint Paul, all our Blessed and Venerable, and Servants of God sustain us on this journey.

Fraternally,

Father Domenico Soliman
Superior General
